

ADVIZOR® Analyzes U.S. Labor Data.

Interactive Visualization and In-Memory Data Technologies Applied to Department of Labor Data.

CHICAGO, IL – January 8, 2013. Data Discovery and Analysis Software leader ADVIZOR Solutions®, Inc. has set up an interactive data visualization software website focused on the makeup of the U.S. workforce. Leveraging Department of Labor data, the visualization illustrates the current U.S. workforce by industry, job type, and compensation level, with the ability to "slice and dice" and go from summary information to detail in just a couple of clicks. This ADVIZOR visualization is helpful for understanding where as a nation our best paying jobs are, and where there may be labor shortages. It is also useful to individual human resource managers who are trying to understand appropriate compensation levels and availability.

"This ADVIZOR business visualization provides insight into the whole labor market so that companies have a starting point to make better decisions in their hiring process. Understanding the size of the labor supply by industry and qualifications, and being aware of the market structure of wages is the first step towards an informed hiring process", says Doug Cogswell, President & CEO of ADVIZOR Solutions.
